
OLD GLORY—There were only 48 stars in the American flag which these youngsters hoisted on the steps of the Forest Hills School sometime around World War I. The one-room schoolhouse was built on land donated by the pioneer Wright family. Alfred Wright, who attended the school, said consolidation with Washougal was hotly contested by residents until pushed through in 1927. PHOTO courtesy of Alfred Wright.

Farmed by settlers' heir

Post Record 3 May 1983